

| | |
|-----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Full Name | Dr Philip Nyden |
| Institutional Position | Professor of Sociology and Director, Center for Urban Research and Learning |
| Institutional contact details | Loyola University Chicago Center for Urban Research and Learning 820 N. Michigan Ave. Chicago, IL 60611 USA Email: panyden@luc.edu Web: www.luc.edu/curl |
| Research interests and expertise | -Collaborative university- Community research methodologies - mixed-income communities - sustaining stable racially, ethnically and economically diverse communities - affordable housing - gentrification and displacement |
| Consultancy work | Multiple foundations and government agencies |
| Funded projects | See www.luc.edu/curl |
| Other projects | See www.luc.edu/curl |
| Languages | English |
| Key words | Collaborative research; housing; diverse communities; gentrification; affordable housing; sustainable development |

Updated: November 2006